The WGSS EDGE Academy is an integrated studies approach to learning. The outdoor classroom provides a multitude of learning environments that will enhance the teaching of existing curricula and provide other unique opportunities that will bring "learning to life" for our students.

Involvement in an outdoor education program has a cost factor. Students will be required to pay $750 (divided into two installments). This money will cover the cost of transportation and toll or ferry costs, camp registrations, and accommodation expenses. The only additional costs will be for food during the overnight field trips.

Due to limited enrollment in the EDGE Academy, school administration will determine the students who are chosen for the program and establish a wait list as necessary.

Students enrolled in the EDGE Academy will be expected to have access to comfortable hiking shoes, a good quality sleeping bag, and water-proof outerwear. A limited supply of equipment is available upon request.
